

Pat Holloway, PhD '73 is the recipient of the 2015 Emil Usibelli Distinguished Service Award. She has been a professor of horticulture at the University of Alaska-Fairbanks since 1982. She is best known for two projects that have made their mark on the community and state: The Georgeson Botanical Garden and Alaska's peony industry. She will be honored for this award at a reception this fall.